Description

This innovative current clamp works on the principle of being able to carry out current measurements safely and quickly in conjunction with a multimeter. Due to the flexible design of the clamp opening, it is possible to insert small but also large cable diameters into the opening. By means of the slide switch, it is possible to set the measuring ranges of the current clamp between 30 / 300 and 3000 A AC. Due to the intuitive design of the device, this current clamp is suitable for all areas in which currents have to be measured, whether in the hobby area or for professional use in industry.
