Description

The PeakTech TF-60 temperature probe is a type K thermocouple (NiCrNi). Due to the length of the probe of 13,5 cm, this temperature probe is ideally suited for use in the laboratory or in almost all areas where high temperatures in liquids have to be measured. The temperature probe can be used for all digital thermometers in our range.

Technical features

- Measures temperatures up to 1000 ° C
- Rod - temperature sensor for temperature measurement of liquids
- Flexibility due to 120 cm long probe cable
- Type-K connection for all common measuring devices
